CERAMIC THROWING WORKSHOP IS UNEXPECTEDLY SUCCESSFUL

This student at the throwing workshop attacks her project with intense interest and concentration.

On February 25, 26 and 27, representatives from numerous communities gathered at the Brock Building in Edmonton to take part in a ceramic throwing workshop. The Arts and Crafts Division expected attendance mainly from the central part of the province, but, because of excellent weather and road conditions, representatives from as far south as Lethbridge, as far north as Beaverlodge and far east as Provost, travelled to Edmonton to take part in the three-day workshop.

At 2:00 p.m. sharp on February 25, twenty-five potters were in attendance for the opening talk and demonstration of the workshop. The Arts and Crafts Division expected an attendance of about ten to twelve people and had nine wheels, some electric, some kick, on hand. It was necessary to divide the class into two or three separate groups in order to provide instruction for all those present. Some members could only come for half or one full day and other potters kept dropping in, finally bringing the total attendance up to over forty people.

The workshop was an active one, to say the least, and for the first time potters from the extreme ends of the province met, exchanged ideas, etc. Miss Rosalind Grant, the Ceramic Instructor, was kept busy ten to twelve hours a day giving instruction on the wheel. She would come in the morning and her hands were hardly out of clay until it was time to leave in the evening. Sessions became so heavy that it was necessary to bring in a second instructor, Mrs. Lena Holgerson, to help with demonstrations, etc., and by the last evening both instructors were exhausted.

The main purpose of the workshop was to assist potters and teachers of pottery to improve their throwing ability. Those attending usually fitted into two categories: (a) those who could not throw; (b) those who have had quite a bit of experience in throwing. At the beginning of the workshop we wondered if those who had not thrown in the past were going to make progress in such a short time. However, by the end of the third day those who stubbornly stuck to the wheel hour after hour were finally rewarded with pots which were worth saving to be fired. Experienced throwers picked up many new ideas and had the opportunity to improve their technique and approach. All those who attended will agree that the workshop was well worth their visit.

The Arts and Crafts Division was very pleased not only with the representation, which came from Lethbridge, Brooks, Olds, Innisfail, Red Deer, Lacombe, Provost, Camrose, Vermilion, Edson, Redwater, St. Albert, Edmonton and Beaverlodge, but also with the enthusiasm.

Those who attended were willing to experiment, anxious to exchange ideas and the general atmosphere of the three-day workshop was one of great activity highly charged with excitement.

The success of this workshop has given many ideas to the Arts and Crafts Division as to other workshops which can be held in Edmonton, or other central parts of the province, in connection with other approaches and other crafts.

The Arts and Crafts Division would like to commend all those who attended and advise that each community who had representatives at the workshop make good use of the information gained by each.

Ceramic Instructor Rosalind Grant explains a technique.

ALBERTACRAFT '65 - - JUNE 21-28
CALGARY - JUBILEE AUDITORIUM

CERAMICS AND STAINED GLASS SPECIAL EXHIBITIONS WILL BE FEATURES OF ALBERTACRAFT '65

In the last issue of Recreation News it was announced that Albertacraft '65 would be held in Calgary, June 21-28, 1965, and mentioned briefly that there would be special exhibits in addition to the general arts and crafts display.

The following is further information with regard to the Arthur Handy Ceramic Exhibition.

The exhibition, made up of twenty-five high fire stoneware pieces, has been kindly loaned by The Isaacs Gallery, of Toronto.

The pieces are fired in a natural gas kiln to approximately 2300° F in a reduction atmosphere. The majority of the pieces are unglazed, colour changes resulting from oxides applied to the surface and then fused on by the firing. The forming techniques are essentially those of basic pottery, slab building, throwing, cutting, adding on, paddling, etc. All of the works by Mr. Handy were completed in 1963-64.

Arthur Handy was born in New York City and came to Canada in 1960 to head the Ceramics Department of the Ontario College of Art in Toronto.

He received the degrees of Bachelor of Fine Arts, magna cum laude, (1959), and Master of Fine Arts (1960) from New York State College of Ceramics, Alfred, New York.

His works have been included in such well-known exhibitions as Glidden Gallery, Alfred, New York, 1957 and 1959; Memorial Museum, Rochester, New York, 1958 and 1959; Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City, Young Americans, 1958; Addison Gallery, Andover, Massachusetts, 1960; Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D.C., International Ceramic Exhibition, 1961 and 1963; Prague Third International Ceramic Exhibition, Prague, Czechoslovakia, 1962; International Arts and Crafts Exhibition of Florence, Italy, 1962; Agnes Etherington Art Centre, Kingston, Ontario, 1964; Winnipeg Biennial, 1964; York University, 1964.

One-man exhibitions of his works have been held at The Isaacs Gallery, 1963; University of Western Ontario, 1964; Kitchener-Waterloo Art Gallery, 1964, and he is represented in the collections of the Royal Ontario Museums, Toronto; Albion College, Michigan, U.S.A., and the New York State College of Ceramics, Alfred, New York.

In addition to the special exhibitions already listed in Recreation News we will also have a special exhibit of a stained glass window by Ernestine Tahedl, of Edmonton. The window will be set into a false wall and lighted from behind to give it the maximum effect of stained glass.

Included in this same exhibit will be samples of the materials, glass, lead, etc., and the tools used by Miss Tahedl in the making of such windows.

Ernestine Tahedl is a native of Austria. She studied at the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna, graduating from the Master Class in Graphic Arts in 1961. During the next two years she executed stained glass and slabglass windows for seven churches and two bank buildings in Austria, designed and executed several mosaics and frescoes for professional buildings and churches and exhibited a large number of abstract paintings. Her works have been shown in several exhibitions in Vienna, in an exhibit of Austrian art in San Salvador, in Venice, Rome and Yugoslavia, and appear in both public and private collections in Austria, San Salvador and the United States.

Miss Tahedl emigrated to Canada in May, 1963. In the short time since her arrival she has received and executed two major commissions in Edmonton: "The Fourteen Stations of the Cross", painted behind glass in the Church of the Annunciation, Jasper Place, and a mosaic and 20-foot mural for the Roman Catholic Separate School in Sherwood Park.

A COVERED RINK FOR BENTLEY

Bentley and district is not large, but is very active in recreation. The school teachers and others have been real supporters of varied sports, such as basketball, volley ball, soccer, hockey and curling. Many hours of coaching have been given voluntarily by these people.

Three years ago a recreation board was formed, which has played an active part in raising money for a covered rink. The town of 600 people boasts a covered curling rink, with artificial ice; but the large number of young people interested in skating have only an open sheet of ice. An average year usually results in about two months' skating, as it's often too warm, too cold, or the ice is covered with snow. Saturdays mean a steady stream of young people going to and from the rink.

This district has a real interest in hockey, by players and parents alike. With a school population just under 600 there are 16 hockey teams, including inter-school elementary leagues and one senior team. These involve 110 children and young people. In spite of a short "ice period" these teams ended the 1963-64 season by winning 12 tournaments and three cups. The results themselves speak for the type of coaching these children get.

The steel covered arena planned by the Recreation Board will cost around $50,000. They have worked long and hard, and are hoping to make this Recreation Centre a centennial project. An "every-family canvass" has been and will be made each year for donations. Several raffles have been held. After raffling a purebred Holstein heifer, the Board hit upon a project to feed cattle. As the district is canvassed, families are asked to give money, donate a calf and/or feed a calf. Grain is also accepted. The beef project is proving both popular and profitable. In this way everyone can see their way to help. By these various methods $15,000 was raised in one year.

The Board is very pleased with the response and co-operation they are receiving from the people. An investment in our youth is never lost. It is hoped this arena, to be known as a recreation centre, will be used all year around by 4-H, Horse Club and any other community project.
